

Connecting with our Learners: Fave Low-tech Strategies and Digital Tools May 2020

Share your disruptive tools and strategies!

LAURA FRIESEN MAY 24, 2020 10:04PM

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 08:01PM

Flipgrid

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 07:59PM

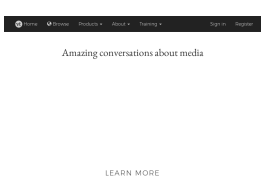

VoiceThread

Conversations in the cloud

design discussions no-schedule meetings professional development collaborate with clients sales and marketing replace text-only discussions interactive lectures support UDL principles no-schedule office hours professional development student presentations conversational practice professional development rich assessment safe and accountable

LEARN MORE

VOICETHREAD

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 07:30PM

Reflection activities to ask learners to consider application to practice

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 07:30PM

I haven't used padlet before now. I use sims, chatrooms

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 07:30PM

I use iclickers in person and discussion boards and chat online

COXP14 MAY 27, 2020 07:30PM

I had my class do their final presentation on video and put it up with Kultura

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 09:31PM

Digital tools/low tech

images, whiteboard, slides

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 07:29PM

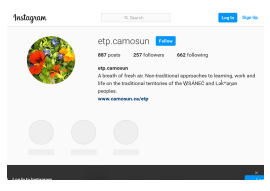

Simulation! (practice scenarios in real time to apply learning)

ANONYMOUS MAY 27, 2020 07:29PM

Login * Instagram

Welcome back to Instagram. Sign in to check out what your friends, family & interests have been capturing & sharing around the world.

INSTAGRAM

LAURA FRIESEN MAY 27, 2020 09:31PM

I love using Instagram as a way to "photo journal" activities, projects and out trips! It's a way to easily share and connect students to the people, places and learning we've shared, and maybe connect independently.

Login * Instagram

Welcome back to Instagram. Sign in to check out what your friends, family & interests have been capturing & sharing around the world.

INSTAGRAM

