

To see your hidden patterns you need to intentionally build self-awareness. Question your perception, build a compassionate and honest internal dialogue, dig deeper into what your real motivations are and have the humility to know you can learn more. Self-awareness combined with action opens the door to real change.

yung pueblo