

BEtreat Canada

In partnership with BCcampus, two 4-day BEtreat workshops are coming to Canada! Join us for a unique experience of engaging, connecting, and learning. In a retreat setting we explore opportunities and challenges facing people whose work involves the support and cultivation of networks, communities of practice, or social learning systems.

STATE OF THE ART | October 7 – 10, 2014

This workshop is for people who want a systematic overview and firm grasp of current principles and practice applied to their context. We will explore best practices and work together to review and apply established models, approaches and techniques to your challenges – from starting up, to cultivating, and to monitoring the value.

CUTTING EDGE | October 14 – 17, 2014

This workshop is for people who are familiar with existing models and practice and want to develop more pioneering aspects of the field. We will explore emerging issues in social learning – as it applies to your case – as well as models and approaches we are still developing.

Registration and details:
<http://wenger-trayner.com/betreat/>

WHERE?

You may choose to participate online or on location.

Grapeseed Guesthouse, Penticton, British Columbia

WHO?

Beverly Wenger-Trayner is a learning theorist and consultant specializing in communities of practice and social learning systems. Her expertise encompasses both the design of learning architectures and the facilitation of processes, activities, and use of new technologies.

Etienne Wenger-Trayner is a globally recognized thought leader and consultant in the field of social learning and communities of practice. He has authored and co-authored seminal articles and books on the topic, including Situated Learning, where the term “community of practice” was coined.

Together, they are furthering the theory and practice of social learning leadership.

And you, along with 10 - 15 other learning practitioners and administrators.